

Title: How much more ammo do these guys still have? Apes have told me for two years now that "they are running out of ammo" but it feels like they have infinite to me. You guys?

Just curious. I feel like ive seen that damn phrase millions of times in the last almost 3 years now and yet it feels that this is a big farce. It feels to me that they haven't run out and in fact feels like they have more and more ammo with no problem.

They seem to just conjure up millions and millions of shares to borrow right in the nick of time when they need them?

It feels like until the market maker of GME changes we will be at the mercy of whatever they want it to trade at.

For the apes always saying "were close" or "they're running out of ammo" please can you explain to me like im 5 how? Cuz it dont feel like that or look that way to my smoothie brain.

DRS GME til phone numbers or Kens in jail.
