

Title: The behind the scenes of this week's events

Author: Otherwise-Category42

Created 2022-11-22 23:02:26 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/z283uo/the_behind_the_scenes_of_this_weeks_events/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/z283uo/the_behind_the_scenes_of_this_weeks_events/

What an odd week. First the Cohen interview, then the iOS wallet. Meanwhile MSM is pushing out false news, and is spewing negative sentiment. Then double yuu ess bee makes a weird GME mega thread.

It is not a coincidence that all of this is happening this week...

This week is the settlement period for November OPEX obligations. OPEX settlement periods occur once per month, and GME does not run for every OPEX. However, historically, almost all of GME's huge runs since the sneeze have occurred during an OPEX settlement period. Here is a calendar of the OPEX dates. They have T+2 from these dates to place the OPEX orders. Dark pools can cause the orders to print on T+3 (tomorrow). Sometimes holidays can extend the settlement period, but I am not sure if Thanksgiving has any effect.

<http://www.nasdaqtrader.com/content/technicalsupport/tradingcalendar.pdf>

I'm not going to go into any detail as to why this occurs, there has been many great DD writers that covered this in the past. I personally feel that this type of DD was suppressed at times, so some Apes may not be familiar with this. I feel everyone should be aware.

Anyways, GME has not had a significant OPEX run since before the split. Is it possible the split changed the game and we will no longer have OPEX runs? Yes. Is it also possible that the 3 month of suppressing GME have the obligations piled high and ready to blow this week? Also yes.

I personally feel that historically Cohen has timed some of GME's positive announcements during OPEX weeks to put extra pressure on the shorts. We also have observed that the shorts like to use MSM negativity when GME is about to run.

I know some of this community doesn't like these types of predictions. This post is not intended to encourage any buying/selling of GME shares or options. I just feel that all Apes should know what's going on and should be mentally prepared for a possible run-up and more FUD.

If we do run hard, it is not necessarily the great squeeze everyone is waiting for, as they could drop the price once obligations are fulfilled. However, these runs definitely put pressure on the bad guys and are fun for us.

Read the old DD. Stay sharp. DRS the float.