Dear GME shareholders,

No one can deny that GameStop has been promoting crypto access via FTX to their customers. Bad move indeed. You do not promote scam to your customers.

It means that Ryan Cohen did not anticipate the possibility of FTX murder (Sam tweeted : Good game you won - Sequoia ? Citadel ? Probably an alignment of interests).

So Ryan is not god, he is just one of the best entrepreneur of his generation - « Humanum errarum est » (meaning shit happens in Latin).

Now what ?

Was FTX in the core process of GME transformation ? NO

Will GME triple their effort being educational on what happened and offering better partners in the future ? YES - I mean Ryan, get into this personally and clean up this mess.

Crypto remains the Wild West. Guys like Alameda got so rich in a couple of years, they did not have the time to realize that they were swimming with sharks.

GME is positioning itself into an entertainment NFT marketplace where games, game items, music, video, art etc. will be traded like you have no idea ! And NOTHING CAN STOP THAT !
