

Title: RC: Fine I'll do it myself then

Author: FollowTheMantis

Created 2022-11-20 04:55:00 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/yzvisu/rc_fine_ill_do_it_myself_then/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/yzvisu/rc_fine_ill_do_it_myself_then/

I think RC is announcing the kill switch, so that we might be able to prepare.

I've been having the hardest time understanding the BoBBY play, but now it all seems crystal clear. RC bought in, to get inside the board and take control of Baby. However, SHF knew it would be the death of them, so they countered him. RC sold his shares at the top to use that money to invest in Teddy. Teddy is what Baby would have been if his plan worked + books. Minor set back. RC releases TSO for all GME holders of a 1 to 1 ratio with Teddy. Outrage ensues as GME holders want access to their Teddy tokens. This gets released on week of 12/6 earnings, right before the swaps need to be reset in January. January sneeze 2.0, boom, tendie town, or should I say Teddy town.

Not only is this a tribute to his father who he loves so dearly, it will be one of the most iconic financial plays of all time. What better way to pay homage to the man who taught him the value of delayed gratification and finance as a whole. It in itself applies the perfect lawyer scapegoat as well: "What do you mean? I love my dad so I made a children's book so other children could learn the most valuable lessons he taught me?"

Bonus speculation: DFV Autobiography released on Teddy NFT/GME Marketplace?