Any time you feel like we're losing because our balances are down, refer to this handy chart showing market cap from Jan 2022 to today:

MSFT 2.52T -> 1.64T (Loss of 860B)

GOOG 1.92T -> 1.126T (Loss of 800B)

FB/META 922B -> 240B (Loss of 680B)

AMZN 1.73T -> 940B (Loss 790B)

NVDA 639B -> 329B (Loss of 300B)

NFLX 267B -> 121B (Loss of 140B)

GameStop 8.27B -> 8.11B (basically unchanged if you ignore today)

Movie stock with the gorilla addition -> impossible to actually make the numbers make any sense, because none of the math actually works anymore and no two market websites show the same market cap (go ahead and look it up)

So, just the 6 stocks above have LOST $3.6T in JUST 2022 trying to prevent the MOA SuperSport...

For reference, in pure dollars, this "correction" is already larger than 2008 and it has barely even started... Expect +75BPS to make the burn even hotter in the coming days...
