GME exposed something pretty funny.... The financial market is literally a big ponzi scheme. The moment I realized that was the day life made 100x more sense. It's just money being shuffled around with everyone taking a cut and inflationary pressures raising equity prices. Even the investment term "equity" is a joke. You don't share in profits for about 90% of "equities". Look, are there winners in the ponzi scheme? Yes. But there's winners in every ponzi scheme, hell some of Maddof's investors made millions before shit hit the fan.
