

Title: I've recently noticed that I dont even need this anymore.

Author: Gettingmyfill

Created 2022-10-01 08:58:46 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/xsqh55/ive_recently_noticed_that_i_dont_even_need_this/

Url: https://www.reddit.com/r/GME/comments/xsqh55/ive\_recently\_noticed\_that\_i\_dont\_even\_need\_this/

TL;DR

When I first got into this, and for a long while after, all my eggs were in one basket. As if a short squeeze in Gamestop would be the only thing to get me out of the lull I'd been in. But over the years this investment has taught me lessons I didn't even know I was learning. Fastforward to the present day and I'm out of debt with a massive promotion and payrise (highest paid in my position company wide) at the same time my music career is actually starting to get some traction and all this without even going into the position i've managed to accrue in Gamestop stock.

What I'm saying is, I'm glad they made us wait so long, because the person I am now, deserves this more and will benefit more from it.

I Hodl because I can and if I haven't sold yet, why on earth would I sell now!