I tried to explain Computershare DRS to a coworker, and these are the highlights...

- No app
- I had to wait 4 weeks for a snail mail letter to make an account.
- It takes a week for orders to fill
- No idea how to sell my shares(or how long it would take)

I love the idea of locking in our GME shares, and NFT dividends sound great. (even though eth is terrible and whoever chose it is naturally as regarded as the rest of us)

***HOWEVER, ***

I would however like to see an app.
User friendly Website with a modern GUI
Modern registration/authentication methods.
Decent order times.
Why do I have three GME accounts?

Considering the amount of dedicated investors in GME alone, CS should be able to come up with something better. Preferably designed in 2020's.
