Retail is the largest consumer (obviously)

Retail produces most of the taxes the government spends.

When Retail likes something it blows up. That includes but is not limited too (cripto, stocks, food items, toys, entertainment, clothes, actors, movies ex...

You get the point retail is the masses and the 1% are probably a little scared of us. we out number them 1,000,000,000.00:1 there is almost nothing retail can't accomplish be it strikes, protest's, voting power ex...

They have made and used every trick in the book to keep us fighting ourselves.. but Not Ape's we hold strong. we found out there game and played it better. god I know they can't stand it ■

Retail has been buying billions of dollars of stock on the DAILY and holding that STOCK! ■■... just think about that for a second... There is like 250 days you can trade that is close to 250 billion dollars a year.

Just imagine a world where retail had all the same instruments and access to all the same news.. we would play them like a fiddle ... they would get wiped out in a matter of years.

Remember Wall Street makes money, because We Make Money from are every day jobs and put it into there corrupt ass game. We found out there game now it's FUCK YOU PAY ME.
