Forgiving and understanding people who have done wrong is the best gift you can give yourself.

I don't hate Kenny and friends, all kidding aside. I get they are in a death spiral and terrified that the whole thing came crashing down. I'm still gonna joke around and mock him because he's definitely a dick, but I don't hate him. I feel sorry for him.

I don't want any ill to befall him or the even worse people in the shadows above him. I just want it to stop so we can get to work on a better world for everyone. Desperate men do desperate things. We don't need any more tragedy in this story.
