I've moved here on Independence Day, 2014, From drop-out high school to fast forward to dead broke unemployed, undergraduate bachelor's degree at CSULA with Real Estate License to come soon.

I was able to conserve and limited my spending budget as well as went all in on pop-corn & GME before 2nd sneeze in February. You'll see my reddit history that I've direct registered them. however, right now, I'm at worst situation like I'm about to be homeless since i have no more saving nor stock portfolio to sell other than Pop-corn & GME. Somehow i can't even afford to sell my Pop-corn and GME after all the times i've witness with everything we have been through as Woke Deaf APE. Mom hates me and Grandma is quite selfish and acting as she's broke after she stole $180k of Life insurance from my adoptive old man (portion of $180k belongs to me but nothing news yet) My time is running very thing like i'm standing on thin ice shivering af wondering if i'm gonna make it through another month regardless doing my best at real estate wholesaling (failed but still going on), stock market option (failed), applied numerous jobs i certainly qualified for (some interview but of course, nada).

To get the point, I need your help to get me job or hire me on spot rather than handout in Los Angeles, California, 91203.

I need a freaking damn job or just two more months to get through even though i have only 25 days left before landlord begin to send eviction letter.

The only things i have that i treasure is this community of holding together against the worst.

Sincerely deaf ape, Gregor619.
