Have been thinking about possible value for $GME to reach and I have seen people talk about a trillion dollar insurance that DTCC have that will cover their members failure to complete their obligations.

To verify this I have been trying to find some documentation of this insurance and what the specifics are, but I can't find any of it in a credible source.

Do any of you guys know where I should look to find it?

Also is this insurance for hedgefunds, clearings, market makers, prime brokers, brokers or all of them?

Thankful for any specifics about it, when it triggers, for who and where the money comes from.
