I will continue automatically buying GME until the SHF "CLOSE" their positions. Price does not matter high or low this will continue. The price is fake, the market is fake. Everyone knows the stock prices through out the entire market is like the spread on gambling they move the stock price/spread to put bettors (options traders) on both sides of the bet and "almost" always the game/stock price/bet ends on friday with the most out of the money contracts going in the houses favor! The simplest answer is usually right. Occam's razor!
