Fractional reserve and how it's become a big problem so 100 becomes 90 becomes 81 and so forth. Now you have generated more debt than the hundred dollars originally at a 1-1 ratio of borrowing. Now that's before you tack on interest payments generating more debt Basically what I'm trying to get at is there isn't enough money to deleverage the system without printing into infinity, which both helps the problem and then makes it exponentially worse. Or a great reset of major financial institutions, bail outs are like putting a band aid on a infection, sometimes you just have to painfully scrape the wound clean before it will heal ! Gme to the moon when printer go brrrrr! As prices soar and inflation rages with destructive dollar value
