I'm probably the smoothest of brains but I see the Ftx collapse and subsequent cryp toe bankruptcies (they are calling it bigger than Enron and Madoff already) as just a single domino in the collapse of both markets

Then once both market start (its already been happening) collapsing $Gme will stay in the range we currently are holding between $20-$30 once the market pays notice to the fact that everything is entrenched in corruption and tied to every other (popular) stock and cryp toe people will fomo into the only stable thing floating in a sea of red ($Gme) while most of the fomo will be routed to dark pools and basket swaps the sheer volume will overwhelm the algos and the stock will start slowly blasting off which will increase the fomo but by larger players which will increase the price even further causing the hedge funds to finally close on GameStop which will in turn increase the already inflated price

The only way current institutional brokers and market makers will be able to survive is if they buy into GameStop and I would even go as far as to say they should start now but they don't do anything before hand they wait to follow when it's already too late (much like our politicians)

the resulting tax payments of apes and fomoers to an over indebted world will be just enough to help the U.S. but also enough to keep the politicians where they are and doing what they do making life harder on the lower classes nothing will change most hedge funds will survive but those who do will have to rebuild but with their algos it will take them no time

Then steps will be taken by both entities to make sure this never happens again at least for the lower class of people, I have no doubt the billions missing from Ftx was apart of the Great resets plan to steal as money as they could from current cryp toe markets so they could turn around and use those illicit funds to fund major market makers to create and reap the rewards of the biggest theft of funds the world has ever seen to be clear it's not over more will happen

I'm just happy to be in the right boat

No cell no sale

That's the way I see it, I'm probably wrong I usually am, this might just be a "thanks Captain obvious" post.
