What if I told you hedge funds have been shorting companies and profiting without having to pay taxes if the company goes bankrupt. And that this practice has been going on for 50 years.

What if I told you people who wanted and profited from these companies going bankrupt actually worked as board members of these companies.

What if I told you external consulting groups were hired to improve the company, but actually actively wanted the company to go bankrupt.

What if I told you this practice happened to companies you've heard of, like Toys R US, Circuit City, and Sears.

What if I told you that a guy in 2005 bought 100% of all shares of a company, and over the next two days the same stock traded 50x the total volume and the price dropped 99% in 2 hours with no shares available to buy or short.

What if I told you brokers lend out the shares you bought to hedge funds who then use your shares to short the stock and push the prices of your investments down.

What if I told you hedge funds and market makers have ways of creating synthetic shares for any stock they want, and that this practice is illegal. However they can hide their illegal activities by "failing to deliver" and paying laughably small fines compared to the amount of money they make by doing this illegal activity.

What if I told you that in 2022 the DTCC did not issue a split divided correctly and instead issued it as a split. In so doing, committed international securities fraud.

What if I told you that recently in the Toronto stock exchange some stocks went up as much as 3,400% on 0 trading volume. That credit Suisse which holds 755 billion in assets is probably going bankrupt. That the SEC recently lost all comments surrounding security swap fraud and short positions. That a number of brokers turned off their buy buttons for a number of stocks in January 2021.

What if I told you a group of people figure out that a stock was oversold and have been buying it up enmass and that currently 57% of all shares available to retail investors now has been directly registered, removed from brokerage accounts and unable to be lent out or shorted. That this community of people do not sell and in fact keep buying the stock at any price, as well as keep directly registering. That this is the first time in history that 3 billion dollars in shares has ever been directly registered by 200k individuals, each holding an average of $15,000 in directly registered stock. That they are hungry to support the company through thick and thin and continue to hold even while the stock price changes by as much as 1000%. #GME #RyanCohen
