

Title: What the hell happened to all the comments we wrote? And where exactly can I comment about this "new rule". Every post is so confusing...

Hello. Dumb ass ape here. I keep seeing countless threads of apes writing they left a comment about some new rule. With beautifully written statements in support of this "new rule".

The problem is... im a dumb dumb ape. When i see these posts there are usually like 10 different massive links to all these rules and regs and its way too much. My smooth brain hurts just for the fact that are even having to do this for like 5% more market transparency, but i digress...

Anyone got a nice concise guide on what I can do here? I want to make my voice heard but im lost in the sauce on all these posts.

Anyone? :)
