Is the way. I knew nothing about stocks or the market prior to GameStop. My wife and I have DRSD everything. 16xx shares. Mainstar for IRAs... everything. It seems dumb but I am sooooo thankful I have a $170 presplit cost basis. I suck at market timing, but my shitty market timing has turned me into a diamond handed stud. I couldn't get my heart out of my bowels when the first big dip happened and I was $20000 in the hole. I know for a fact that if I was in the green 100% or more, I would have been the first paperhanded bitch to fold. But to Kenny's demise, I am now a GME ride or die bitch. The dd is on point. Is it all 100%? No, but the plain fact is that the financial system is a rigged turd wrapped in shit. I have seen the light. GameStop is not the only security affected but it will be the catalyst for whatever is to come. I don't know what happens when this all shakes out, but here is what I do know...we have passed the point of no return. This will happen. They know it and we know it. I am strapped in and ready to go. I don't know any of you near as well as I should, but rest assured I am in it til the end. My name won't be in a history book but I will know I will forever be a part of a revolution. DRS!
