Want to know what would change my life?

Being a life long share holder, and creating generational wealth for my family, as well as every ape who's on the right side of history.

Sure, some extra cash would be great. Would love to travel or take a vacation right now. But that's why we work, once it gets spent, it's back to square one.

What they don't realize is we are countless apes world wide who do work and we get by. We don't need the money that's sitting in gme.

Some do, not trying to knock anyone who needs the cash, life happens. We are in a Great Depression I believe, and I think many people are in that situation.

What most don't understand is that while we are trying to squeeze them, they are trying to squeeze us.

Hence the astronomic gas prices, grocery prices, real estate interest rates, etc. inflation is ridiculous and people think it's just normal!

Went grocery shopping, $20 for a lb of fuckin basic deli ham! Last I checked, the same thing was maybe $15? $10 or $12 on sale?

Have you noticed any crazy price hikes lately? If so, on what?

Prices just keep climbing and climbing. Kind of reminds me of what my favorite stock, gme, wants to do.
