supfags.

anyways... bought $1234.56 worth of shares a few years back at like ($116?) a dip DRS through compuserve.. at least.. I think thats how it worked.. I was drunk and bank says I paid.

anyways seems like some sort of something happened since then and now shares are shit canned - obviously moon never and yall are some bby cucks.. so is now a good time to sell..? (how the fuck even do I do that?) cause I dont really want to have to explain this to the IRS agents that bust my door down in a few years...

cc: wow guess I need to have "Ryan Cohen" somewhere in this post... fuckingchrist you guys are some /r/simps and def not in the good way that subreddit is....

ccc: I also need a flair? jesus this place really is full of goddamn apes
