After looking into a few games that will be on the GME market place via imx I am pretty impressed with God's Unchained. This game comes from ties that link to Magic the gathering and have a very specific, ape like dedication and big community. They are fully regarded in short. I already believe in GME and RC and getting to see this in motion is fantastic. If you get a chance check out their reddit sub. There is no talk about price of the gods token, it's all players taking about the game and their strategies. This is so refreshing to see happening in real time. These are the use cases that will change people's minds and pave the way for the future. Actual use cases being used. The nft gamestop space is going to be huge.

If anyone knows of any other games we should check out please mention them below. Full disclosure I live in a dumpster behind a wendys and I hold GME and gods among others and am just hyped after ten plus years in the blockchain space to start seeing some real use cases materialize. This is going to be huge apes. GME to the moon!!!!
