Can our boy Ryan Cohen turn Gamestop/ Gme into the most dazzling, user friendly, and practical version of the Technology? Just like any company at the forefront of a technology, the one that will rise to the top will be the one that looks and works the best. Spotify/Playlist is an entire show based on this principle and how a company rose to the top.....functionality and design. Its already free. I 100% foresee a future where there are entire awardshows such as the golden globes just for game and skin designers. Skins will be wearable crossgame and crossplatform and awards will be given for categories like best skin iteration and internet choice awards and even dollar amounts for winning. Can you Imagine the marketcap on an industry like that and who will get there first? Can cohen do it, I for 1 think so.

TLDR: Huge marketcap on gaming industry in the future, where skins/NFTs will be wearable crossgame and crossplatform, I think Daddy Cohen can get the technology there first, Gaming partnerships(EA,SONY,etc) and guess who already has the notoriety and business relationships in the gaming world.
