

Title: They are still collecting sentiment whole news article and the question at the bottom is what?
Author: Lifesucksgod
Created 2022-11-14 17:25:23 UTC
Permalink: /r/GME/comments/yv686d/they_are_still_collecting_sentiment_whole_news/
Url: <https://www.reddit.com/gallery/yv686d>

11:21

News Detail

...since the start of the year, prices recovered over 7% in the last month alone.

Lessons From History

There have been 26 bear markets since 1928 if we look at the S&P 500 as a proper gauge for the entire market.

The average bear market has lasted 289 days and resulted in the market down an average of 35%.

It's been 312 days since the market started to decline on Jan. 3, 2022, but it's only been 151 days since June 13, 2022, which is when the S&P 500 officially entered bear territory.

So, looking at the average bear cycle, we could still be only half-way through.

Recent history has some of the most extreme examples. The economy went into full bear mode in the blink of an eye when the world learned of the consequences that the COVID-19 pandemic, but that bear cycle only lasted 33 days — the shortest one in the history of the index.

20 years earlier, the dot-com bubble crash took the markets into bear territory for 929 days, or two and a half years.

However, it's very rare to have two years in a row of 20% losses. According to John Davi, founder and chief investment officer at Astoria Portfolio

Post a comment

Post

11:21

News Detail

While the index has recovered slightly since its lowest point of 2022 — closing this week at 3,992.00 — the regained territory is not enough to declare the market back in a bull cycle. So far this month, the S&P 500 is up almost 10% from November's low.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average shows less volatility and sparks more hope.

The index tracking the 30 most important companies in the country climbed by 3.99% last week. Reduced exposure to the struggling (and volatile) tech sector has allowed the index to enjoy better results than the S&P 500 in recent months.

The Dow has almost recovered the semester's losses and is now getting close to last quarter's peak of 34,000 points, up over 15% since October's low.

The Dow has had a much better year than the S&P 500, down 7.6% this year, against 17% for the broad market index.

The Nasdaq Composite is the worst of the lot, largely weighed down by the index's association with companies in the tech sector. It's down almost 30% since the start of the year, but has recovered over 7% in the last month alone.

Lessons From History

Post a comment

Post

11:22

News Detail

returns of 167% in 2021 and is up 60% already since the start of the year.

The energy sector has been one of the best performing in 2022. The same macroeconomic events that are factors in the market downturn happen to be good news for companies selling fossil fuels. The Energy Select Sector SPDR Fund (NYSE:XLE) is up 64% in 2022.

Here are this year's five best-performing stocks in the oil and gas sector:

- Occidental Petroleum Corp. (NYSE:OXY), up 159%.
- Marathon Oil Corp. (NYSE:MRO), up 95%.
- EQT Corp. (NYSE:EQT), up 92%.
- Hess Corp (NYSE:HES), up 89%.
- Exxon Mobil Corp. (NYSE:XOM), up 79%.

Photo by NASA on Unsplash and Katy Thompson from Pixabay.

Your attitude towards Gamestop Corp

Bullish

Neutral

Bearish

Related Stocks

Post a comment

Post

11:21

News Detail

Current Bear Market Could Go On For Longer (If History Serves As Example) But One Sector Is Bucking The Downturn

Benzinga · 11/14/2022 09:24

Risk Warning: This article represents only the author's personal opinion and does not constitute...Unfold

Listen to the news

The S&P 500 is showing a recovery in November, but experts think it's still too early to tell if October's lows were this cycle's rough bottom: the situation hasn't improved enough to consider the equity markets in bull territory just yet.

The Three Major Indexes

The S&P 500's last peak happened on Jan. 3 of this year, hitting a record high of 4,818.62 in January 2022.

It's been a slow and tortuous ride down to the last low point of 3491.58 on Oct. 13.

While the index has recovered slightly since its lowest point of 2022 — closing this week at 3,992.00 — the regained territory is not enough to declare the market back in a bull cycle. So far this

Post a comment

Post

11:22

News Detail

fighting the bear with good energy

Devon Energy Corp. (NYSE:DVN) is one of a few examples of top-performing companies from 2021 that continued its success into 2022. The company was fourth among top gainers in 2021, giving investors annual returns of 175%. This year, the energy crisis propelled by the Russia/Ukraine conflict has resulted in record yields for companies in the oil and gas sector. Devon shares are up 58% this year.

Continental Resources Inc. (NYSE:CLR) is a similar example. The Oklahoma-based oil and gas exploration and production company gave returns of 167% in 2021 and is up 60% already since the start of the year.

The energy sector has been one of the best performing in 2022. The same macroeconomic events that are factors in the market downturn happen to be good news for companies selling fossil fuels. The Energy Select Sector SPDR Fund (NYSE:XLE) is up 64% in 2022.

Here are this year's five best-performing stocks in the oil and gas sector:

- Occidental Petroleum Corp. (NYSE:OXY), up 159%.
- Marathon Oil Corp. (NYSE:MRO), up 95%.
- EQT Corp. (NYSE:EQT), up 92%.
- Hess Corp (NYSE:HES), up 89%.

11:21

News Detail

GameStop Corp. (NYSE:GME) was an odd duck as far as investing in single companies goes. The meme stock enjoyed an unusual situation by which its price rose by 815% in 2021. Since January, the stock has been down 30%.

Upstart Holdings Inc. (NASDAQ:UPST) was up 321% in 2021, but the consumer lending company has had a rough time adapting to high-interest rates, high inflation and lower spending. The company is down 84% this year.

Moderna's (NASDAQ:MRNA) successful development of a COVID-19 vaccine drove the company's shares to gain 193% in value in 2021. Yet the company has lost 27% of its value since January.

Fighting The Bear Vibes With "Good Energy"
Devon Energy Corp. (NYSE:DVN) is one of a few examples of top-performing companies from 2021 that continued its success into 2022. The company was fourth among top gainers in 2021, giving investors annual returns of 175%. This year, the energy crisis propelled by the Russia/Ukraine conflict has resulted in record yields for companies in the oil and gas sector. Devon shares are up 58% this year.

Continental Resources Inc. (NYSE:CLR) is a similar example. The Oklahoma-based oil and gas

Post a comment

Post