Why It Matters: Ritholtz Wealth Management's

Josh Brown believes much of the retail crowd backing GameStop and AMC

Entertainment Holdings Inc AMC + Free Alerts , better known as the Apes, has moved on.

There was almost no reaction to the news on message boards or on the Subreddit r/wallstreetbets, Brown said Tuesday on CNBC's "Fast Money Halftime Report."

"A lot of people that were part of that uproar have moved on to other things," he said.

And according to Brown, the Apes have moved on for good reason.

"It would be weird to think that history will repeat and all of sudden there's gonna be this tremendous squeeze," Brown said.

He told CNBC that it isn't clear whether the retail crowd is still in the markets, noting that much of
