Title: isn't Kenneth moving to Miami to get away from crime?

Author: gustavocabras

Created 2022-11-16 03:23:51 UTC

Permalink: /r/GME/comments/ywibhx/isnt_kenneth_moving_to_miami_to_get_away_from/

Url: https://i.redd.it/gtla7z4ew90a1.jpg

Miami.

Year round tropical paradise? Year round hot garbage. Hot, humid garbage. A crime-ridden, bug-infested, trash-strewn, traffic-choked third world shit hole. The official flower is mildew, the official smell is decomp, the official birds are mosquitos and plametto bugs which is just a cute name for giant cockroaches. Absolutely abysmal education means the native population is as dumb as a box of rocks. "Oh but houses are so cheap!" They sure are, when they're poorly built, slum-adjacent and 20 traffic-clogged miles from any decent services or shopping. Just overlook the property taxes, too. Better hope your condo building was properly maintained. Uninsured driver, slip-and-fall scam central. And gooooooood luck finding anyone who speaks English.

What's really hilarious is the handful of companies relocating there citing crime in the cities they're leaving. Had they read the news they'd know Miami is not Singapore or Geneva. "Crypto hub"? Yeah, good luck with that.

Rising sea level can't come soon enough.

